

The Essential Oils of Eucalyptus.

An interesting work on this subject has recently been published by the Technological Museum of the Government of New South Wales. The work is a royal quarto, contains 300 pages, 46 plates and many tables. Having been compiled under Government direction and where the best facilities are at hand for obtaining authoritative information on the subject treated of, the volume will undoubtedly prove of value to all interested in the eucalyptus oils.

Reproduced with permission of the copyright owner. Further reproduction prohibited without permission.