

Books of the Week

WORKING NORTH FROM PATAGONIA,
by Harry A. Franck. Century.

Mr. Franck earned his way from the Argentine, through Brazil, the Guianas, and Venezuela.

URNS ABOUT TOWN, by Robert Cortes Holliday. Doran.

Mr. Holliday's travels are nearer home— New York, Philadelphia, and Washington—but not less amusing than Mr. Franck's.

THE LAND OF HAUNTED CASTLES,
by Robert J. Casey. Century.

The land is Luxemburg, and the book is one to remember for an attractive and readable gift.

MAYFAIR AND MONTMARTRE, by Ralph Nevill. Dutton.

The sobrieties and gayeties of both London and Paris, showing that there was fun even in the reign of Victoria the Good.
