

DANA ESTES & Co. send out "Chatterbox." People have children of their own now and some of them grandchildren, who began to read "Chatterbox" when it first appeared. No matter whether child, or parent, or grandparent, the book loses none of its zest as the years of the readers increase. Old people and young people alike agree on this one thing: They all like "Chatterbox."

❧   ❧

Reproduced with permission of the copyright owner. Further reproduction prohibited without permission.