

"The Tragedy of Abraham Lincoln" is a history of the late war written in the form of a play. It is more curious than impressive. Dr. C. W. Selden, publisher, New York.

From Ig. Kohler, 912 Arch St., this city, we have received parts 6 and 7 of the splendid new translation of the works of the great German poet Schiller. It will be completed in twenty-five numbers, at the rate of twenty cents a number. Each issue contains several splendid full-page engravings.

Mrs. E. D. E. N. Southworth's powerful and highly absorbing novel, "The Bridal Eve," is shortly to be issued by Messrs. T. B. Peterson & Bros., of this city, in excellent style at the exceedingly low price of seventy-five cents a copy. The cheapness of the work should give it an immense sale. Everybody will be delighted with it.

"Notes from Sunland" is the title of a little illustrated book issued by S. C. Upham, Esq., relating to South Florida. It is a clever work in every sense, containing all facts of interest relating to the country, interwoven with history and anecdote in a most entertaining manner. It is intended more particularly to give information concerning Florida as a place for immigration, and well fulfils its task. Whether for this purpose, or merely the pleasure of reading, it is well worth perusal. Price 25 cents. 25 South Eighth St., this city.

MAGAZINES.

Potter's American Monthly for September has the following excellent list of contents: "New and Old Mexico," "Twilight," "A Romance of Two Summers," "A Sunflower," continuation of "Kith and Kin," "The First American Baronet," "Seth Marvin's Mirror," "Flint and Sand," "Victrix Victa," "Decoration of Cottage Homes," "The Crossgrains and the Straightgrains," "Late," "Novelties in Fancy-Work," "Through the Clover," etc., etc. The various departments likewise are well filled with matter both useful and entertaining. J. E. Potter & Co., publishers, this city.

In point of fine illustrations the September Wide Awake is quite up to the midsummer number. Among the articles are those on "Fishing-Rods," "King Philip's Head," "The Mirage Man," "A Cloudy Day in Green Apple Time," "The Ballad of Boy Blue," "Having His Own Way," etc. Instalments are given both of "Sharon" and "Polly Cologne," no less than sixteen illustrations being given with the latter in this number. Mr. Francis, the cat artist, turns his attention to the dancing pigs, an amusing poem of the piggy-wigs. Rev. E. E. Hale has an interesting talk with the children about the shooting of President Garfield, and former assassinations of history; and there are good puzzles, and a very singable and playable piece of music. An important announcement is made on the cover of this number respecting the permanent enlargement of the magazine, and the establishment of a Reading Union for American and English Young Folks, beginning with the October number. D. Lothrop & Co., publishers, Boston.

NEW MUSIC.

We have just received a copy of a new song and chorus called, "God Bless the Little Woman," founded on a remark of the President's after being shot. The words are written by Howard N. Fuller, and the music was composed by Charlie Baker. Price, 35 cents per copy. F. W. Helmick, 180 Elm St., Cincinnati, Ohio.
